

BULLETINS FROM KING'S BEDSIDE TODAY HOPEFUL

Slight Improvement in His Condition Reported by Doctors

London, Dec. 29.—(AP)—King George's condition was authoritative-ly stated at Buckingham Palace to be unchanged at mid-afternoon.

London, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Two slightly more hopeful bulletins on King George's illness since the decidedly disturbing ones of Thursday night and yesterday morning have served to hearten the public somewhat. Deep anxiety, however, was still the keynote of popular feeling today over the King's condition.

It was noted that a restful day for the patient was reported last evening and this was followed by a quiet night which was announced in this morning's bulletin. This rest, it was assumed, contributed helpfully to the improvement now recorded, which, however, was emphasized as very slight.

Morning Bulletin.
The morning bulletin, timed 11:30 a. m., said:

"The King has had a quiet night and there is a very slight change for the better in His Majesty's condition."

There was intense interest in any hint of a new method of treatment for the stricken ruler and in addition to that aroused by the American contribution of an antiseptic solution received yesterday which it is hoped will prove helpful, an unofficial suggestion that a blood transfusion would likely be employed excited the public imagination keenly. It was stated authoritatively this afternoon, however, that this has not been considered by the King's doctors.

It is understood that the measures decided upon yesterday for the purpose of increasing His Majesty's general strength relate to a new course of medicine.

BIG INAUGURAL PARADE WILL BE FEATURE OF FETE

Procession Four Miles Long Planned for March Fourth

Washington, Dec. 29.—(AP)—A parade four miles long, requiring two hours to pass and composed of 20,000 people, is the ceremony proposed to accompany the inauguration of Herbert Hoover on March 4.

The inaugural parade details announced today by Major General Anton Stephan, chairman of the parade committee, disclosed that the Navy Department had been asked to lend the dirigible Los Angeles to lead the air circuit that is to accompany the street parade. Navy officials said that it would be entirely practicable to have the big airship follow the parade from the Capitol to the White House, because here the Commander could time her arrival over any designated point within ten seconds. The plan is to have day and night flying by air detachments from the Army and Navy on the day of the parade.

Five hundred people, it is estimated, will man the state floats which will take part, and six thousand marchers, one person to each twenty thousand population, will represent the country's marching clubs.

General John A. Johnson of the American Red Cross has been named chairman of the medical aid and emergency committee, and is now organizing his committee workers, mostly volunteer doctors and nurses who will treat any casualties during the four day celebration.

CONVINCED TWO LOST LIVES IN GRAND CANYON

Hope Abandoned Today for Newly-weds on River Journey

Peach Springs, Ariz., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Conviction that Glenn R. Hyde and his wife perished in the swirling water of the Colorado river, which they attempted to navigate on a honeymoon trip, was expressed here today by Emory Kolb, veteran river man. Kolb and his brother Elsworth, first men to navigate the Grand Canyon, returned last night after a hazardous journey in the deep gorges in search of the venturesome Hansen, Idaho, couple who left Bright Angel Trail in their home-made scow November 18. The Hydcs expected to reach Needles, Calif., about December 1.

The river man reported that examination of the scow used by the couple to shoot the river rapids indicated that disaster had overtaken them December 1 near where the craft was found, lodged in the rocks which clog the tortuous canyon riverbed, and where it was seen by Army aviators who joined in the extensive search begun two weeks ago.

Blind Boy Makes Gift for Hoover

Herbert Hoover, president-elect, is going to have a blue and gold necktie. It is being made to order for him, but the maker will never see the tie. Kingsley Price, 11, an inmate of the California School for the Blind, started the tie on a tiny hand loom as he lay very sick in the institution's hospital. Enthusiasm over the tie hastened his convalescence.

REVIEW EFFECTS OF HOOVER TRIP TO NINE NATIONS

Spontaneity of People in Receiving Him was Remarkable

U. S. S. Utah, Enroute to Hampton Roads, Dec. 29.—(AP)—As Herbert Hoover's associates view the Latin-American goodwill tour in retrospect they are impressed by two things—the apparent spontaneity of the reception by the people in all nine countries visited, and the frank manner in which government officials discussed economic and other problems with the President-elect.

It was learned early in the tour that the people seemed to know as much, or more about Mr. Hoover than any other American, possibly because of his work during the war and afterwards as Secretary of Commerce. They were also aware of his familiarity with Europe, Asia and Australia and they were apparently pleased that before becoming President he wanted to make a first hand study of Latin-America.

It was explained that everywhere the President-elect went government officials talked to him not merely about economic problems of their countries but also relations with the United States and neighboring nations.

It was stated emphatically, however, that Mr. Hoover did not discuss boundary disputes or other political subjects, since his mission was wholly one of goodwill. On occasions when political matters were brought up the President-elect listened quietly without offering comment, unless to clear misapprehension about well defined policies of the United States.

TO VISIT FLORIDA

President-elect Herbert Hoover will set up his residence for the two months between his return from the South American trip and March 4th, the date of his inauguration, in the Belle Isle home of J. C. Penney at Miami Beach, Florida.

Decision to use this beautiful estate was reached by Lawrence Rich, personal representative of Mr. Hoover, in Miami this week after an inspection of several estates which had been offered. The south end of Belle Isle will be turned over to the Hoover party, with rooms for guests and accommodations for the press being furnished in the home of Joseph H. Adams, adjacent to the Penney property.

This will be the first time that a republican president-elect has ever spent his pre-inauguration vacation in the democratic South, for Florida, while carried in the republican column in the presidential election, is still democratic by a large figure in state politics.

The visit is looked upon as one of especial significance at the present time. Mr. Penney is nationally known for his interest in agriculture and stock breeding. During the summer and late fall months of the year he made an extended trip covering fourteen states in the central West and along the Pacific coast exhibiting purebred Guernsey cattle and talking on agricultural conditions.

In addition to his dairy cattle, he is a breeder of Berkshire hogs and Hampshire sheep. In Florida, just south of Jacksonville he is developing the town of Penney Farms, around an agricultural development covering 120,000 acres. Ownership of the 29 acre farms in this development is based on a co-operative partnership arrangement after the resident farmer has proved his ability to farm the acres under his control.

Mr. Penney tendered the use of his Miami home to the president-elect just following the election on November 6, making a trip to Portland, Ore., to Palo Alto to visit Mr. Hoover at his home.

Harris officiating and with burial in Riverside cemetery, Sterling. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy sympathize deeply with them in their loss.

Former Member of Legislature Dead

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Abner G. Murray, 71, former member of the state legislature and prominent Springfield attorney, died here late yesterday. Murray presided as temporary speaker of the House during the turbulent 43rd assembly when Speaker John Henry Miller was driven from the chair.

WOMAN OFFERED TO TAKE PLACE IN LOVER'S CELL

After Youth Had Said She Was Guilty of Killing Husband

LaCrosse, Wis., Dec. 29.—(AP)—For eight years behind the forbidding walls of the Waupun state prison, John Beier, now 29 years old, recounted the events that led up to the slaying of Nick Biesen, his affair with Mrs. Biesen, his trial and subsequent for the remainder of his days.

He fashioned a strange tale by which he sought to obtain his freedom. He appealed to prison officials and endeavored to convince them that Mrs. Biesen, who he claimed had exerted a strange influence over him, was the actual killer and that he went to prison to save the woman.

Determined to learn whether the man's story was true, Governor Zimmerman granted him a five-day reprieve and under guard Beier came to LaCrosse.

Beier and the woman were brought face to face by District Attorney Lawrence Brody. The convict had planned to tell his story but when the opportunity came he looked into the face of the woman and told the truth.

With the conference ended the woman came to District Attorney Brody with the plea that she be sent to prison to finish Beier's term, and that her former farm boy lover be granted his freedom.

She was morally responsible for the slaying of her husband on his farm in August, 1920, she told the District Attorney, though Beier fired the fatal shot. It was her hand, the strange influence she held over him, she said, that directed Beier.

"If the Governor will release John I will go immediately to Waupun for life to pay for his deed," the District Attorney quoted her as saying.

BOLIVIA DENIES TROOPS MOVED INTO PARAGUAY

Belated News of Former Movement Blamed for Report

Washington, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The Bolivian legation today officially denied Paraguayan charges that Bolivian troops had occupied Fort Vanguardia within the last few days and had advanced eleven miles into Paraguayan territory.

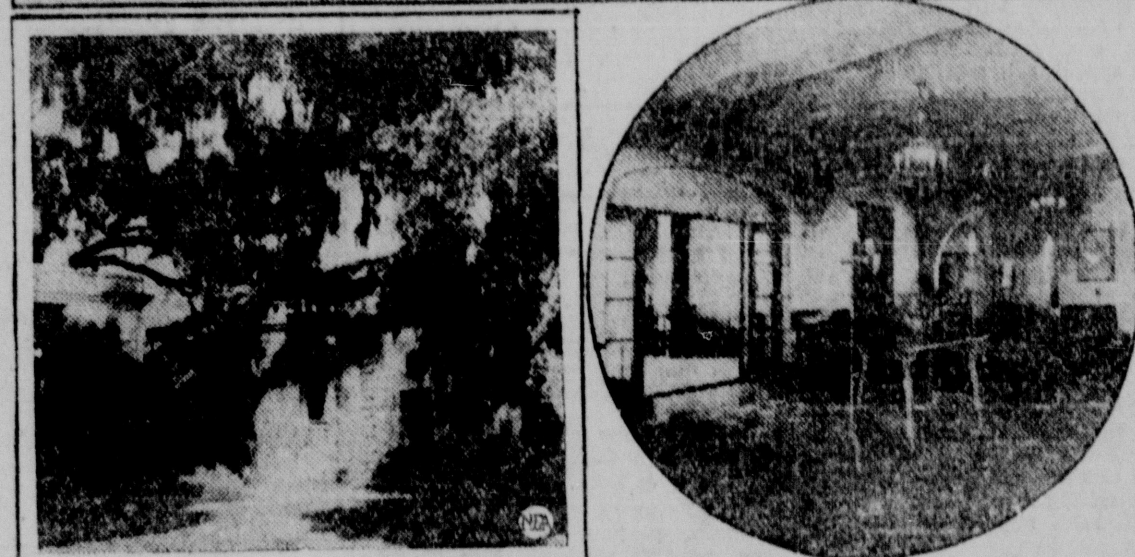

Minister Diez de Medina of Bolivia made public a telegram from Foreign Minister Elio, which was substantially the same as the denial previously issued by Elio at Lapaz. Referring to the charge made through the Paraguayan legation here, it pointed out that "Fort Vanguardia, after the attack by Paraguayan forces on Dec. 6, was immediately taken back by a Bolivian garrison which met no resistance whatever because the Paraguayan forces had abandoned the position."

Minister Diez de Medina blamed the Paraguayan report in large part upon faulty and slow means of communication between the Paraguayan forces at the frontier and Paraguayan headquarters. He said the Paraguayan foreign office now hears, for the first time, of the immediate re-occupation after the first clash on Dec. 6.

Colorado Man to Superintend Dam

Washington, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Raymond F. Walter of Colorado, as Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Reclamation, will be in charge of the construction of the Boulder Canyon dam project. He is now attached to the bureau's office at Denver.

Holiday White House

Wintry winds, snow and ice for them who prefer them, but President Coolidge is taking his Christmas holidays mixed with a little southern sunshine, thank you. After lighting the community tree in Washington on Christmas eve, the chief executive and Mrs. Coolidge went to the palatial estate of Howard E. Coffin, automobile manufacturer, on Sapelo Island, off the coast of Georgia. Above is shown the Cloister Hotel, housing the President's entourage. Below are exterior and interior views of Mr. Coffin's home.

NOVEL RODEO IS ARRANGED TODAY FOR COOLIDGES

Native Negroes to Ride Semi-Wild Steers for President

Sapelo Island, Dec. 29.—(AP)—A sea island rodeo, far different from those affairs of flashing spurs and prancing ponies which President Coolidge witnessed while vacationing in the Black Hills of South Dakota, was arranged for the Chief Executive's amusement today as the first feature of a busy week end.

Sapelo Island, where Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge are enjoying a Christmas vacation as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Coffin, abounds in semi-wild steers which roam through the Coffin estate. Some fifty of these were rounded up for the rodeo and for each a native Negro rider was provided.

A prize is offered to the Negro who sticks to his mount the longest. The Negroes of the island are descended from the Africans left there in the slave running days. Many of them spend an entire life time on the island without once setting foot on the mainland.

In their isolation, the Negroes have built up a rich lore of chants and spirituals which also furnished an item today for the presidential program. Apparatus for making sound films was transported to the island to photograph the Negroes and record their music with the President listening.

Mrs. Coolidge, in her first shooting trip yesterday, brought down three pheasants. She was enthusiastic over her success and probably will try her luck again.

The President will worship tomorrow at an historic spot, an old Christ Episcopal church in what was once the town of Frederica, erected at the place where Charles and John Wesley preached in the early colonial days.

Prehn Denies Report of Pact With N. York

Chicago, Dec. 29.—(AP)—No working agreement has been made between New York and Illinois state boxing commissions, and none is likely for some time, Paul Prehn, chairman of the Illinois commission, has announced.

Prehn's announcement was made following reports from New York, quoting members of the New York body that such an agreement had been made.

Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight champion, has given whatever efforts that had been made for such an agreement a set back, Prehn said. Loughran has signed in Chicago to meet the best heavyweight available before April 1. Under the New York commission's rules, Loughran cannot leave his rank and still hold his title, whereas Illinois rules permit him to do so.

"I am dubious that any working agreement can be made with the New York commission," said Prehn, "but the Illinois commission is eager to come to such terms if possible."

Hundreds of Sets of Teeth are Destroyed

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Teeth, several hundred fine sets, were destroyed by fire last night, but no fatalities were reported. The teeth were the property of a dental laboratory. The entire stock valued at $9,000, was destroyed. The office was housed in a fireproof building, so outside the dental laboratory there was no loss.

WALNUT MAN NEAR DEATH: SHOT HIMSELF Will Dodson Attempted Suicide in La Salle Thursday

William Dodson, aged about 50, proprietor of a Walnut pool hall, lies at the point of death at People's hospital in Peru suffering a self-inflicted wound caused when, it was stated, he attempted to commit suicide with a revolver Thursday afternoon.

The shooting occurred at the home of Edward Mattson in LaSalle, at about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Members of the Mattson family, whom Dodson, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Mattson, had been visiting, found Dodson unconscious, with a 38 calibre revolver at his side in a spare room at the Mattson home.

The revolver bullet entered in the region of the heart and penetrated the man's back.

No reason could be assigned for Dodson's attempt at self-destruction. It was said at Walnut that his business was well patronized and that so far as could be learned there had been no family difficulties thus disposing of those theories as possible motives for suicides.

Dodson who is married and the father of one child, a girl about five years old, left Walnut on Christmas day to spend a few days with relatives in Spring Valley, Peru and LaSalle and had not returned to that village since.

Society Leader in St. Louis Suicided

St. Louis, Dec. 29.—(AP)—A coroner's verdict of suicide was returned today in the death of Miss Katherine Lucille McDonald, 25, a maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet's ball in 1927, who was found dead of carbon monoxide gas poisoning yesterday as result of running an automobile in a closed garage.

A rambling note in which she said she was a "miserable wretch and making everyone else equally so," was found on her body. Toward the end, the note became illegible, indicating she was gradually overcome as she wrote. She had been ill.

ADVOCATES TAX ON AUTO TRUCKS FOR ROAD WORKS

University Professor Urges Vehicles be Made to Pay Cost

Chicago, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Urging that heavy vehicles be made to bear a fair share of the cost, Professor H. M. Hunter of the University of Illinois advocated a tax on motor trucks for the maintenance of highways, in a paper read before the American Economic Association today.

"If it be decided to exact a heavy license, to legalize the use of heavy trucks," he said, "it would apply alike to a truck operated by an individual in his own business and to a truck operated for hire, as both are equal earning agencies."

A probable reason for the congested traffic conditions in the metropolitan area surrounding Chicago was suggested in an address before the American Farm Economic association by J. G. McKay, director of the Cleveland Highway Research bureau.

Advocating the establishment of a plan for highway construction for five or ten years in advance, Mr. McKay observed that absence of such a plan "is particularly serious in the areas surrounding centers of population, such as New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and other cities."

"The outstanding criticism of highway policies," he said, "is not the amount of public funds spent but that highway departments have not established plan of improvement based on traffic and engineering facts, to guide the investment of public funds."

"Frequent changes in personnel is partially responsible for this situation and results in the lack of a continuous policy of improvement, and in many cases, an unround investment of highway funds."

"The greatest daily density of traffic is found on the highways adjacent to centers of population. Motor truck transportation on rural highways averages 10 per cent of the total traffic. Construction of rural highways wider than twenty feet is unnecessary except for a few miles outside large cities."

"Highway improvement should be financed from motor vehicle license fees, and gasoline taxation plus small assessments against the benefit of property. For regional highway systems, which should be set up around centers of population, there should be included several counties, comprising the areas of regional traffic importance."

Von Elm Took Lead in Long Beach Open

Long Beach, Cal., Dec. 29.—(AP)—George Von Elm of Detroit, who held the national amateur championship in 1926, had crashed through par by eight strokes to lead the field of 294 professionals and amateurs today in the second 18 holes stretch of the 72 hole Long Beach open tournament. He registered a 65 yesterday in the opening round.

The next best effort was a 69 turned in by Eddie Loos of Pasadena, California and Chicago, and Ed Dudley of Hollywood, Calif. Olin Dutra of Santa Monica, Calif., and Johnny Rogers, brilliant young Denver, Colo. golfer, had 70's.

Walter Hagen, British open champion, took 71, two strokes below par. Many other finished in that division, among them Al Espinosa of Chicago, Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., 21-year-old, who won the recent Santa Catalina Island open, and Ben Richter, St. Louis southpaw.

FEDERAL JUDGE SAVES LEADER INDIANA DRYS

Writ of Habeas Corpus Issued by United States Court

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Judge Robert C. Bailett of the Federal District Court here, issued a writ of habeas corpus directing William L. Reasener, Sheriff of the Indiana Supreme Court, to appear before him today to show why he is holding in custody Dr. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League.

Reasener held the dry leader under an order of the state Supreme Court yesterday recommending Shumaker to the state penal farm to serve a sixty day sentence for contempt of the court.

Shumaker was held in contempt by the Supreme Court for the publication of articles criticizing members of the court for alleged prejudice in liquor appeal cases. He went to the penal farm last October to begin serving a six month sentence but was released on the day of his arrival on a pardon issued by Governor Ed. Jackson.

Former Dixon Man in Morrison Jail

Jess Hodges, former Brooklyn township farmer and resident of Dixon, but lately of Rock Falls, is under $1,500 bonds in Whiteside county charged with giving drinks of intoxicating liquor to children. Hodges was taken to the county jail at Morrison Wednesday, following a raid on his home which is situated in the Garden City section of Rock Falls. He was held to the January grand jury under $1,500 bonds on a charge of violation of the prohibition law.

It was charged at the hearing that Hodges had given wine to 12 and 14 year old boys one week ago today. The boys are said to have become quite sick from the effects of Hodges' Christmas services of a physician was issued with the result that deputies from Sheriff Kelly's office visited Hodges' place of abode, where it is alleged a quantity of mash, moonshine liquor and wine was taken in the raid.

Wall Street

BY STANLEY W. FRENOSIL
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Constructive forces were again at work in today's stock market, and prices moved upward in brisk fashion under rather heavy buying for both accounts. Such profit-taking and tax selling as came into the market was well absorbed and at least a score of issues were pushed up to new high levels. Gains in many of the active shares ran from 2 to 12 points. Inasmuch as Friday's call money rates carries over the week end, the credit situation was not an important factor in today's market. Wall Street took encouragement from the optimistic character of the year end reviews and forecasts, now making their appearance, and from the excellent trade reports from most of the basic industries. Wright Aeronautical returned to the leadership of the market by soaring 12 points. National Tea moved up 10, Midland Steel Products preferred 7, and Pere Marquette 6. Houston Oil, which was hammered down to 79 in the early December break, rallied nearly 6 points to 100. Magma Copper, Radio, Union Carbide, Warren Bros., Curtiss and Chicago Pneumatic Tool sold 4 to 5 points higher, and a long list of others including DuPont, General Electric, By-Products Coke, American Sugar Refining, and Cerro de Pasco sold 2 to 3 points higher. The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 2,000,000 shares.

Buy Interest in New York Giants

New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The New York Sun said today that William F. Kenny, millionaire contractor and close friend of Gov. Smith, has acquired a twenty per cent interest in the National Exhibition Co., which controls the New York Giants. The stock was purchased, according to the newspaper from the Soden and Conant interests in Boston which once controlled the Boston Braves. The Sun estimates Mr. Kenny paid in the neighborhood of $750,000 to obtain 2500 of the existing 12,500 shares of stock in the company, figured at $300 a share. This would place a value of $3,750,000 on the franchise of the Giants, but the Sun estimates that $5,000,000 might well represent the value of the club, considering the big dividends paid in the last year and possibilities of future profit.

THE BLUE DOORWAY
Out from the islands of longing
A dream came softly true,
I found a little cottage
With a doorway painted blue.

I found a quiet village
With a river winding through
Where banks of bending willows
Dip in reflected blue.
And over the river, the meadows,
And over the meadows, the sea,
But the dearest of all is the doorway
That swings so wide for me.
And through the open doorway
I see from the worn threshold
The tall Madonna lilies
And yellow marigold.
The Northwest wind comes bringing
The pageant of the sky,
The great white clouds are floating,
And leisurely drift by.
And when these fill my doorway
I know them for my own
And am richer far than Croesus
On my warm hearth stone.
Elizabeth Holden Webb.

Ackland-Ewald Nuptials Saturday

A very simple but impressive wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Ackland at their home on the Meridian Highway in Reynolds township at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at which time their eldest daughter, Dorothy Margaret, became the wife of Clarence C. Ewald of Reynolds township.

The marriage ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Robert McKelvey, pastor of the Steward Methodist church, was witnessed by 25 relatives and friends. The bride was attended by Miss Florence Koch and a brother of the bride, George Earl Ackland, attended the groom.

The bride was attired in a very becoming gown of mauve blue chiffon and her maid wore wine colored velvet.

The home was decorated in keeping with the holiday season, as well as the table decorations.

The bride is a graduate of the Rochelle high school, completing her work with the class of 1928. She attended the State Teachers College at DuQuoin for a year and since that time has been teaching in the schools of Lee county. She is an accomplished young lady, of pleasing personality and a general favorite among the young people.

The groom who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ewald, has been engaged in farming since completing his school work, at which occupation he has been very successful.

Following a course dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Ewald left by automobile on a short honeymoon trip, after which they will be at home at their friends at the groom's home. They have the best wishes of their many friends.

Small Girl Scored Hit With Recitation

Morrison, Ill., Dec. 27.—The recent epidemic of fl. plays such have with all school and church programs that managers of entertainments were nearly frantic. This condition was present with the Christmas committee of the M. E. church. Therefore, at their Christmas tree and entertainment to make sure that no child should be inadvertently left out, the Rev. Chenoweth stood up at the close of the program and announced that, "A little boy or girl had a piece to speak, he would be glad to have that child step forward and speak this piece."

A small five-year-old girl arose quietly made her way to the platform (twisted her skirts around to please her, bowed and in clarion tones announced:

I asked my mother for fifty cents
To see the elephant jump the fence
He jumped so high into the sky
That he never got back till Fourth of July.

Needless to say her effort was appreciated and will go down into history as one impromptu number that all her hearers could enjoy, even though she departed somewhat from the Christmas idea.

Prominent Couple Married Friday

Aiken, S. C., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Before a few relatives and close friends, Miss Leslie Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Volney Foster of Lake Forest, Ill., and Conde Nast, president of the Nast Publications Corporation, publishers of Vogue, Vanity Fair, House and Garden and other periodicals, were married here yesterday.

The ceremony was performed at the winter home of the bride's parents. The bridegroom is 34; bride 27. Miss Nast is a granddaughter of former Governor George White Baxter of Tennessee.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton

© 1929 by NEA Service Inc.

I know no better time to begin teaching future purchasing agents and managers of big business—yes, or even future housewives—the value of money and the idea of budgeting, than right now at Christmas time.

Of course you have given your boy or girl an allowance, if it's only 25 cents. That's half the fun of it all. If you haven't, it isn't too late yet.

It's one of the best trainings in the world, this counting out pennies to see if he can make it stretch, selecting the right things for the right people, working out an average so that no one will be neglected, and having to do without things for himself to buy presents for the other people.

Don't Ridicule Choice
Every way you take it, it is money well spent to hand over a Christmas allowance to a child.

And then (excuse me—don't butt in) let him lone. He—or she—will likely bring home very pink soap for the Sunday School teacher, or bay rum for Grandma but don't for the world, change it after it's bought.

If you do, slam-bang will go about 90 per cent of self-confidence you have been so carefully nurturing. Don't shake his faith in his own judgment. If you have any explaining to do to your friends later on—well, all right, but I beg of you, don't let him hear you or learn of it in any way.

Take Care with Suggestions
Of course you may have a little chat with him ahead of time, and suggest some things very, very cleverly. But as surely as you do, you are losing something, or rather he is.

One little boy I know had two dollars and a list of about 25 people. To the ten cent store he went.

Later he was heavily unwrapping his purchases with long deep breaths, one wax candle, one glass lantern filled with candy, a balloon, a velvet poinsetta, a green tooth brush, one cup and two saucers—when his mother asked:

"Why two saucers, Billy?"
"Well, the cups for Ernest and I hadn't enough money so I'm going to give a saucer to Lilly. They can take turns."

"But who's the other saucer for?"
"Oh, that doesn't go to that family at all. That's for Hick Johnson. I gave him the cup last year and this just matches."

Perfectly Good Reasoning
His reasoning suited me down to the ground.

The beauty of it all was that his mother answered, "That's a good idea."

It's a lot of fun for children to shop. And no matter what they get you, or make you, or plan for you, be surprised and pleased, and try to act as though you meant it.

First Wedding In New Church

The first wedding to be solemnized in the rebuilt Lutheran church of Polo was performed by the pastor, Rev. Dwight P. Blair, Sunday afternoon, December 23, at 4 o'clock. Miss Anna M. Vetrovec and Harold Ivins, both of Mount Morris, were the principals.

The bride and bridegroom were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Bessie Vetrovec and Royal Brinker, both of Mt. Morris. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vetrovec of Mt. Morris. How THE WOMEN DO PAINT

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE J. JONES

The subject of woman is flourishing even as the proverbial green bay tree in our magazines these days. Just as we are about ready to believe that woman as an abstract subject is no more interesting than man, we pop upon such titles as these in the current periodicals:

"Extra Ladies"; "Can Women Beat Matrimony?"; "And We Marry These Women!" There is more than a juicy bone to gnaw in extracts from any of the three cited titles.

Margaret Culkin Banning, author of "Extra Ladies," and a man, John P. Sheehan, author of "And We Marry These Women!" seize on the same grievance from slightly different angles—the grievance that woman is considered of value only to the extent that she is young and beautiful.

Mrs. Banning characterizes as "extra ladies" those women left alone and aimless, "the left-over wives, the scragged ones, the women whose youth was their chief value in exchange, the divorcee who sought shelter for her flayed feelings, and the unmarried woman who had not been brought up to marry and who had managed to do so, and who, under the older regime, were absorbed into the homes and lives of other relatives but who now, in this day of individualism, are only 'extra ladies' and must make such lives as they can for themselves."

Mrs. Banning makes a logical plea for a social viewpoint which grants that social women still have a right to encumber their allotted inches of space even if they are not young and charming and beautiful.

"No one wants to deny beauty or its exaggeration to the young, the poet, or the lover," she continues, "but to the middle age, and even old age, panting after it is revolting. It makes them jealous and selfish. If they keep on as they are going it will make plenty of women crack-brained. The next generation, if it intends to be composed of competent women, will have to put bodily beauty in its place and keep it there."

"Back of the belief that they are the clues to satisfactory relations with men. We have not yet learned better than that. Women's own apprehensions provoke the very distasteful things that they do."

They themselves suggest that if they do not remain young and provocative, they may be thrown on the marriage scrap heap. Women's fears are at least partly responsible for the present condition, and they are silly fears. Youth and beauty are very well, but wisdom and love can run rings around them."

The male author airs the same grievance when he insists that tradition and the modern movies have fostered and ideal of womanhood upon the too credulous male which makes

The Sunday School session will begin at ten o'clock. The Morning worship period at eleven. The pastor will speak on the subject, "Lessons from the East." As we approach the closing of the year may we be able to look back and note some progress, or note whether we have moved forward or backward. This is extremely important in the advancement of the years. Are we merely drifting with the currents of the wind and wave till the time is up? Or are we making a conscious effort to reach some definite goal like "the haven of rest?"

SCOUT TROOP 60 OF DIXON WINS OREGON RALLY

Mount Morris Troops in Second and Third Places There

Troop 60 of Dixon won the fifth annual Scout Rally held at Oregon Friday evening. Troop 77 of Mt. Morris was second and Troop 66 also of Mt. Morris was third. Competition was very keen in all events and the spirit of rivalry shown was very good. The crowd was not as large as it might have been, but this was probably due to the fact that there is so much sickness around. The following tells the story of how Troop 60 won under the leadership of their Scoutmaster W. D. Craig:

Knot Tying—Troop 66 First—Harry Conrad; Second Troop 60—Albert Goeke; Third Troop 77—Lyle Meeker.

Morse Signalling—Troop 60 First—Wilson Walker and David Craig; Second Troop 77—Russell Colburn and Lloyd Nally; Third Troops 66—Robt. Gloss and Harry Conrad.

Fire by Friction—Troop 77 First—Harry Meader; Second Troop 60—Robt. Sterling; Third Troops 69—Albert Seyfarth.

Semaphore Signalling—Troop 66 First—Harry Conrad and Glen Kretzinger; Second Troop 60—Louis and Lester Pitcher; Third—Paul Harschman and Eugene Burright.

Flint and Steel—Troop 60 First—Rae King; Second Troop 69—Albert Seyfarth; Third Troop 77—Harry Meader.

First Aid—Troop 77—Leslie Watt and Chick Friedland; Troop 66 Second—Harry Conrad and Robt. Gloss; Third Troop 60—David Craig and Wilson Walker.

Equipment Race—Troop 60 First—Herbert Walker; Troop 77 Second—Lloyd Nally; Troop 69 Third—Eugene Burright.

Troop Cheering—Troop 60 First and Troop 77 Third.

Indian Sign Language—Troop 60 First.

This rally closed the events on the Scout Calendar for the 1928. People who attended were very well satisfied with the results. The rally clearly demonstrated that Scout competition is just as much enjoyed as any other form of competition. The next big event is the Merit Badge Exposition to be held in Rockford on Feb. 15 and 16. Further announcements will come later.

In men's hats the commonest sizes are 6 7/8 and 7; in shirts, 15-inch neckbands and 15 1/2 inch collars.

Looks Like Peoria Against Champaign

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Four teams remained undefeated today in the scramble for the championship of the Big Twelve Conference basketball tournament.

Lincoln, Peoria Central, Champaign and Decatur had come through undefeated to the semi-finals this afternoon when the four clash for the right to play for the title.

The games will bring together Peoria Central and Decatur, and Champaign and Lincoln. The winners play tonight.

Peoria Central, by virtue of the 30 to 5 trouncing administered Mattoon last night, is the favorite to cop the tournament. The presence of Captain George Soper in the Central lineup has strengthened the hopes of the school's supporters for the championship.

Soper shone brilliantly in the Mattoon game, netting five field goals and a free throw in addition to playing a whale of a defensive game. He led his mates in scoring with 11 points while Lyons, guard, was next with four.

Champaign breezed through to the semi-final bracket by smothering Danville, 43 to 7. The score of Danville, held to two field goals and three throws, was scored by Hall, Champaign's center, with six field goals and two free throws. Champaign, because of its showing in the Danville game, is picked by many to meet Peoria Central in the finals.

Decatur had a narrow squeak with Springfield but managed to eke out an 18 to 13 victory. Lincoln downed Peoria Manual 26 to 12.

MILLIONAIRES OF POST WAR PERIOD UNDER SCRUTINY

Officer of Federal Reserve Bank of New York Student

Chicago—(AP)—Post-war millionaires of America, numbering 25,000, were subjected to scrutiny as a class, by the American Statistical association in convention here with the presidential address of Carl Snyder of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

"The Problem of Prosperity," was Mr. Snyder's topic.

"Income tax returns," he said, "now reveal between thirty and forty thousand individuals with incomes equivalent to or exceeding that of a millionaire. Possible half or more of these have been created by the violent debasement in the value of the currency which has taken place since the beginning of the war. Only seven thousand individuals were so rated in 1914. A considerable part of the present number must be due, also, to the enormous rise in the value of securities since the war, and to the colossal manipulation in security values, incomparably the greatest gamble the world has ever known."

"Is the millionaire, per se, so desirable a type that our economic machinery should be geared thus to create them by the tens of thousands? Are we as a people happier, more contented, saner in spirit less lost in the maelstrom of making money, because we may boast of twenty-five thousand new millionaires in the last decade? Nearly eighty years ago the greatest of our philosophers wrote of 'great, intelligent, sensual, avaricious America.' Must it ever so remain as Emerson felt it then?"

"The cynical may indeed suggest that this concentration of wealth and income, this following from the many to enrich the few, is an agreeable means of expanding that fund of capital which is so necessary for our industrial growth; and that the greater degree of concentration the greater the eventual gain in national wealth. But on this plea we should be led to suggest, for example, that governmental lotteries are the most economical and least painful form of taxation."

"But the Puritan spirit which still dominates our National policy has suppressed the lottery, as it attempts, also, to suppress so many other of the pleasures of the flesh, the wine cup and the bay-leaf. Will it leave untouched what still remains our chief form of emotional intoxication and self-illusion? These are problems which we must leave, per force, to the spirit which rules us, in the mournful assurance that nothing which the economist may offer will influence it in any way."

"If, now, we gather the heads of the argument, what conclusion may we reach? Historically, every period of unusual expansion of boom, has been followed by a corresponding depression, and the resulting rate of our growth and of our product in the whole period has been no greater than the average in more peaceful or normal times, when the boom spirit is absent. In other words, these boom periods, which we have come so distinctly to associate with the idea of national prosperity, seem to represent in the end no clear national gain. Why then should we have them?"

"Years of unusual expansion are paid for by years of depression and unemployment, often involving widespread suffering. High hopes are brought low, fortunes are wrecked, and, worst of all, the business and economic morale of the nation seriously impaired."

"When fortunes can be made gambling in pieces of paper, of what utility or attraction are the antique virtues of industry, sobriety and thrift? These are temporarily thrown into the discard, reluctantly and discontentedly to be resumed when the house of cards has crumbled."

"But, it may be urged, are these pleasant periods of excitement and exaltation to be done away with deliberately? Does anyone seriously propose to check prosperity when it comes? Are not such waves of over-optimism characteristically a part of our exuberant temperament? It is not precisely this exuberance, and the restless, aggressive spirit which goes with it, which has given to these United States today the industrial primacy of the world? In brief shall there be no more cakes and ale?"

"The answer seems to be that the apparent gains of prosperity, or at least of boom, are largely illusory, and in so far as they are a reality have been, in the past, at least, too dearly paid for. Clearly, true prosperity, that is, the general diffusion of comfort and well being among the largest possible number of the population, is not dependent upon inflation and boom."

"Clearly we do not need a debasement of the currency of exchange, or a frenzied commotion of speculation in stocks to assure this condition of well-being. We have this amply at other times without the attachments of a champagne jag."

Fire Ruins John D.'s Church

The new $4,000,000 Riverside Church in New York, which was being built by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, nationally known pastor, was reduced to a blackened shell by a night-time blaze that defied efforts of firemen to conquer it. This striking photo shows the fire at its height, with flames licking the Manhattan skyline. Damage to the great stone structure was estimated at $1,000,000, and the forest of scaffolding that filled its partly completed interior was destroyed.

TEN MILLIONS IN UNITED STATES IN MISHAPS YEARLY

Industrial Accidents Said to Cost One Billion Dollars

Chicago—(AP)—Ten million persons are injured or killed in accidents in the United States each year. W. H. Cameron, Managing Director of the National Safety Council, told a joint meeting of the American Association for Labor Legislation and American Statistical Association here.

Industrial accidents cost one billion dollars: automobile accidents $8,000,000; Fire loss, $350,000,000 and home accidents and public accidents $350,000,000. "The total annual cost of accidents in the United States," Mr. Cameron said, "amounts to $3,200,000,000."

"Since 1921 accidental deaths have increased 17 percent, both in actual number and in deaths per hundred thousand population. If the accidental death rate in 1927 had been the same as in 1921, 14,000 of the 95,000 killed last year would be alive today. Deaths from motor accidents approximated 25,800 deaths in 1927, an increase of 400 per cent since 1923. In 1911 one out of forty accidental deaths occurred in automobile accidents. In 1927, one out of four.

"Accidents are tremendously costly. I think it is quite clear also that society must stand the burden of these losses, either directly or indirectly. The costs of accidents are not confined to industry, they are borne jointly by everyone. "It is our belief that a nationwide program on accident prevention involving the three factors of education, engineering and enforcement of laws will help to reduce these costs."

EASTERN TEAM IS FAVORED TO COP IN WEST CONTEST

Annual Charity Battle in Frisco Today is Center of Interest

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Football squads from opposite sides of the country were for their toes for their fourth annual east-west intersectional charity game here today. Gridiron stars from many colleges and universities are included in the starting lineup.

The westerners held a big edge in the matter of victories thus far, having won the last three games played,
but the easterners were favorites to triumph this year.

Injuries forced a reorganization of the west team two days ago, when Mort Kear, former University of Southern California star, was substituted for "Brick" Marcus, California halfback. The latter broke his practise in a scrimmage session.
Practice for the eastern eleven has gone along smoothly in a Sanford University stadium and reports of their showing there have made them favorites.

Upwards of 50,000 tickets have been sold for the contest, and game
officials expect a capacity crowd of 60,000.

The probable starting lineup:

East
Haycraft, Minnesota, LE
Nowack, Illinois, LT
Gibson, Minnesota, LG

YOUNG STRIBLING LOOKS LIKE BEST TO TEX RICKARD

Promoter Sees Georgia Boy as Successor to Gene Tunney

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Tex
Rickard, in his annual signed boxing
forecast for the New York Evening
World today, doubts whether Jack Dempsey will attempt a come-back and puts his finger on W. L.
(Young) Stribling as the most likely successor to the heavyweight throne
vacated by Gene Tunney.

While in the predicting mood, the promoter also ventures the opinion
that new champions will be crowned
in every ring division with the possible exception of the lightweight class, where he regards Sammy
Mandell as well entrenched.

Rickard's analysis of the heavyweight situation is particularly interesting, coming on top of his definite announcement of the match
between two of the foremost contenders, Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling, for February 27 at Miami Beach. The promoter a year ago predicted Gene Tunney would successfully defend his title against any rival and he remarks in his latest survey that if the champion had not retired "he would be the only one whose honors would seem absolutely safe to me."

No Positive Forecast
While he carefully side-steps any positive forecast, Rickard takes up
the subject of Tunney's successor
thus:

"If I must express an opinion as to the man most likely to come through I would suggest that you keep an eye on Young Stribling."

"Although Jack Sharkey has disappointed me at times, as has everyone of the recognized contenders for the heavyweight honors, I have thought all along that he is in the class of the big fellows. But one thing in connection with the preten-sions of Stribling has struck me forcibly. Some of the challenges for the place left vacant by Tunney is anxious to box the Georgian. Even Sharkey shied at the match with Stribling down in Miami the last week in February. Sharkey intimated he would rather box Stribling in New York for half the money he will get for the same match in Miami Beach. I must say, however, there is one challenger who is not averse
to meeting Stribling and that is Tommy Loughran."

Despite his intimation to the contrary in Miami Beach yesterday
Rickard says in the world:

No Dempsey Comeback
"There probably will be no comeback by Jack Dempsey. I would like to see him climb through the ropes
again but any one who is trying to create the impression that Jack is certain to make another bid for the title is talking without any basis of fact."

Only one thing would encourage Jack to make another try for his title and that is a certain type of fighter should come through as winner of the heavyweight eliminations.
I do not care to commit myself
further on that point but I am pretty well satisfied Dempsey has fought
his last fight."

Whether or not Dempsey comes back, the "big shot" by which Rickard hopes to turn out a recognized heavyweight champion in 1929 will be touched off in New York, he declares, despite reports that Boston,
Montreal or another site would be chosen.

Rickard believes Loughran has too strong a chance to win the heavyweight crown to linger any more among the 175 pounders, in which division the promoter expects Tuffy
Griffiths, Jimmy Braddock, Jack Delaney, Leo Lonski and others to furnish the principal action for 1929.

Summary of Predictions
Here is a summary of Rickard's predictions for the Evening World
in other divisions.
Mickey Walker probably will vacate the middleweight title, because of difficulty making the weight, leaving Rene Devos, Ace
Hudkins, George Courtney and Dave
Shade as possible successors.
Joe Dundee is not likely to retain south pole. New Zealand was the last outpost of civilization touched by the party before putting off for the long voyage through the ice to the Bay of Whales, where the permanent base will be established.

HUDKINS WINNER IN HARD BATTLE; DECISION CLOSE

Aggressiveness of Nebraska Wildcat Gave Him Verdict

New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Putting a slashing finish on a dull boxing
year, Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, has clawed his way to the position of leading contender for the world's middleweight championship.
He gained the prospect of a return match with Mickey Walker by slugging his way to a close decision over Rene Devos of Belgium in Madison Square Garden last night. Hudkins
lost one bout to Walker last summer

on a decision that met with the disfavor of many fans.

The puncher from the corn country
and the Belgian fox provided a spectacular show, battling on even terms
up to the final round. Hudkins won only by his last round attack when he tore into Devos and forced him back in spite of a gallant attempt to stand off the rush. Up to that time each had won four rounds and one was even. Many of the customers
agreed with Referee Lou Magnolia, who called the scrap a draw, but the two judges agreed that Hudkins had a slight margin.

Aggressiveness Won

Keeping right on top of his rival
every minute, the shaggy haired Hud-kins gained the victory by aggressivness that would be denied. He kept boring in steadily, carrying the fight to Devos regardless of the punishment he received. The same tactics brought him close to defeat
in the eighth and ninth rounds, when the Belgian made a slashing attack
of his own, shooting in sharper

cleaner blows that had Hudkins groggy for a while. Both fighters took plenty of punches during the battle and came out with a good supply of cuts and bruises. Devos received a big welt over one eye while his ninth round stand gave Hudkins
several cuts around the mouth.

Whether or not Hudkins will get another shot at the title or will remain in the leading contenders role is open to question. Walker has taken few chances with the crown and before last night's battle was decided it was announced in Boston that the champion had agreed to fight there Feb. 8 in a non-title bout. His opponent is to be the winner of another middleweight contenders' battle between Dave Shade and George Courtney.

Hooks and Slides

HE CAN HANDLE HIMSELF

George Moriarty, according to baseball shop talk, will be in a tough spot next season when he goes back to umpiring in the American League.
Some of his friends thought he
he should have gone over to the other league if he wanted to go back to a job that is none too soft when the ball players haven't anything to call on an umpire's attention.

Hank O'Day at one time quit umpiring in the National League and tried to manage the Cincinnati Reds.
He didn't fit in a managerial job
and went back to umpiring without any serious consequences.

But old Hank didn't have any personal troubles with the players of the Cincinnati club or he did not become involved in any personal feuds with the players on the other clubs.

It's a good bet, though, that any of the ball players who start something with the former Detroit manager had better be prepared to finish
it because George is a very good finisher.

WE MUST HAVE CHANGES

Football had a monopoly for years
on the delicate trade of tinkering
with the rules and after all those years of experimentation the game
seems to have been transformed into a very satisfactory one.

The coaches still grumble to have the posts set back on the goal line

and there have been some suggestions that a fumbled ball should become a dead ball at the spot where it is recovered. But there will be no violent agitation about either suggestion.

Basketball has gone through the same years of experimentation and,
like football, it has been developed
into a very satisfactory game.

The survival of football and basketball under all the operations of the legal surgeons and their recovery to even better health, admittedly caused John Heydler, president of the National League, to make his ten-man baseball suggestion.

He had reasons to tell his magnates that football had reached unprecedented popularity because the rule makers of the game had considered the taste of the customers and had been influenced by the changes
in times which demanded changing styles of the game.

GET FUAPPERISH, BASEBALL!

He argued that baseball had not kept up with the times. And it has not been modernized like other sports, unless the introduction of the rabbit ball is termed as an innovation.

The hockey people have been considering changes in the rules that would promote increased scoring

and it has been suggested this year
that forward passes be allowed in the zones in front of the goals.

Boxing regulations have changed,
and are changing the sport, until
only the fundamentals of the old Queensbury code will remain. Some of the customers complain, however,
that boxing is being made into a molly game and they take heart
when a young fellow like Ace Hud-kins steps forward with a suggestion.

The Ace suggests that the minute
of rest between rounds be eliminated
and that the gladiators be forced to carve each other until one of them has dropped.

SCENE COOLIDGE VACATION IS BIT SPANISH MAIN

Georgia Island Formed a Stronghold in Pir-
rates' Days

BY ERNEST LYNN
NEA Service Writer

Sapelo Island, Ga.—The Sea Island section of Georgia, composed of a string of small islands just off
the Coast where President and Mrs.
Coolidge are spending their winter
vacation, is a region where a man may take his history along with his hunting and find an amazing abundant of both.

Along moss-hung forest glades of live oak, where Portuguese explorers
and Spanish settlers trod in the 16th century, the president will drive and hike. He will view the sites of old Jesuit and Franciscan missions, anticipating even the California missions. He will visit the spot where General Oglethorpe established England's largest colonial fortress, in the ancient town of Frederica on St.
Simons Island.

Where John Wesley Preached
He will see, and most likely stand beneath, the oak where John Wesley preached the first Methodist sermon
in America. Nearby stands Wesley's old church.

Along the way he will find a veritable sportsman's paradise. The islands abound in deer, wild turkey,
pheasant, quail, squirrel, racoon and possum. And Howard E. Coffin, his host, can even show him where to shoot the rare wild peacock.

At the discovery of this part of the Atlantic coast, the offshore islands naturally felt the feet of explorers before the mainland. The Spaniards named them "The Golden Isles of Guale" (pronounced "Wally"
by the English). Properly speaking, they applied the term to four of the islands, Osaabaw, St. Catherine's, Sapelo, and St. Simons; but the name later was applied also to Cumberland and Jekyll, the other large islands in the group. Guale was a province of old Florida and as such
was included in the Spanish Main.
Spanish settlements were sprinkled throughout the islands by 1566, and for two centuries they were governed by the sovereigns of Spain.

Spanish Routed French
Spain's rule was not unchallenged.
Ribault and Laudonniere led a French expedition to the islands.
French settlements appeared and French names were applied to the waterways. Spanish wrath finally broke, and in 1564 a caravel sailed
from Havana and routed the French.
Under Spanish rule, Jesuit and Franciscan missions were established throughout "The Golden Isles". The Indian inhabitants were Creeks. Many of them were converted to Christianity, not, however,
without the martyrdom of a number
of priests.

Natives of the islands can tell stories of pirate activities, and it is said that the notorious "Blackbeard"
used to visit the islands to bury his treasure. Legend has it that his cache lies on an island adjoining Sapelo.

Spain's Hold Broken
In the early 18th century, about the time of "Blackbeard", English activity began to be felt in the islands.
England established the Colony of Georgia in 1733, and three years later Oglethorpe, the founder, built the fortress and town of Frederica on St. Simons Island. Later the English defeated a Spanish landing force near Frederica in one of the decisive of early American engagements, the Battle of Bloody Marsh.
This was the battle which is said to have broken Spain's hold. It went far toward establishing English domination of North America.

It is over territory which is almost unknown by the rest of the country that President and Mrs.
Coolidge will travel on their winter vacation.

The height of prosperity for "The Golden Isles" was reached in the period between the American Revolution and the Civil War. This was the era of the cotton planter. Here flourished the long staple cotton which became known throughout the world as "Sea Island Cotton".
Here was maintained an aristocracy
of wealthy planter families which
for nearly a century led the south in culture.

But the homes of all these families
were burned or shelled during the Civil War. When General Sherman
made his famous march through Georgia to the sea, leaving ruin in his wake, he did not neglect Georgia's islands.

Owned by Coffin
It is said that only the Spalding mansion, on Sapelo Island, had enough walls remaining for later rebuilding. Sapelo is now owned by Howard E. Coffin. There he has a 25,000 acre estate and, on "Little Sapelo," a game preserve stocked principally with pheasants. Around the walls of the old Spalding home
he has built a home which is one of the show places of Georgia.

On St. Simons Island, which is now connected with the Georgia mainland by a causeway leading into Brunswick, Mr. Coffin has built a yacht club on the Frederica river not far from Oglethorpe's ruined fort.
He has also built the Cloister hotel,
which will house part of the presidential party, and a golf course. St.
Simons Island is designed as a playground. Here, where the Battle of Bloody Marsh was fought, the vaca-tionist now golfs and fishes, or bathes at Sea Island Beach.

Twenty miles away from St. Simons by motor boat lies Mr. Coffin's Sea Island hunting preserve, a 60,000 acre peninsula. Here Mr.
Coffin has erected a hunting lodge
and several cabins, a hunter's quarters de luxe so to speak and modern

Five Generations of Champs

plumbing has intruded in a wildness abounding in deer, wild turkey and other game. Winter sports of other wealthy men are also found on the islands.

Fishing and Hunting
The program to be followed by President and Mrs. Coolidge during their stay very likely will be left up to them, but it is probable that from Sapelo the presidential party will sail to various of the islands on Mr.
Coffin's yacht, the Zapala, and the president is apt to go fishing at St.
Simons and hunting on the Sea Island preserve.

The presidential palate will be regaled with pheasant, venison, quail
wild turkey and other game, and if
Mr. Coolidge has not already been introduced to roast peacock it is a comparatively safe bet that it will be served.

HAWKEYES GET REAL TEST IN PANTHER GAME

Battle in Pittsburgh
Outstanding Game
of this Evening

Chicago, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Iowa's veteran bank of six foot sharpshooters carry on for Big Ten basketball prestige tonight by invading the lair of Pittsburgh's Panthers.

The game, which promises to give the Hawkeyes their severest test prior to the Big Ten championship season,
headlines a four-game conference
card. Other scheduled games for tonight are Chicago at Depauw, Lambard at Wisconsin, and Cornell College of Iowa, at Minnesota.

Although minus the services of its star senior forward, Forrest Two-good, called home by the death of his mother, Iowa is the favorite as,
the Panthers, won only one victory
during their recent invasion of Big Ten camps.

Tonight's game marks the first eastern invasion by a Hawkeye cage team, and the last practice game before Iowa starts in the Big Ten championship race, January 5.

Undeclared in two starts, Wisconsin was expected to have little difficulty in defeating Lombard. The Badgers probably will send the same team against Lombard that defeated
Franklin and Pittsburgh.

After two weeks idleness because of the influenza siege, Chicago enters

ANNOUNCING NEW SUPERIOR Whippet

Greater Beauty, Larger Bodies!

with "FINGER-TIP CONTROL"

What "Finger-Tip Control" means to you

Greater Convenience: A single button, conveniently located in the center of the steering wheel,
controls all functions of starting the motor, operating the lights and sounding the horn.

This fundamental improvement does away with all
troublesome foot fumbling for the starting button,
a frequent source of annoyance particularly to women drivers. It also avoids changing from the comfortable driving position to reach a light switch
on the dash.

Greater Safety: With the new "Finger-Tip Control," you can at all times keep your hands on the wheel and your eyes on the road. An important safety factor, especially when driving at night.

-the most notable advance
in driving convenience
since the self-starter

TODAY Willys-Overland presents for public judgment the new superior
line of Whippet Fours and Sixes, setting
new standards of beauty and comfort
for low-priced cars.

Longer bodies, higher radiator and
hood, richer colors, heavier one-piece
full-crown fenders—all these contribute to the trim, smart appearance that denotes creative genius and superlative mastery of modern design.

Roomier bodies, greater comfort

More spacious interiors in the new Superior Whippet afford added leg room and elbow room. The wider, form-fitting seats are deeply upholstered . . . all passengers enjoy restful positions.

The longer wheelbase, plus the lengthened springs both front and rear, plus oversize balloon tires, and snubbers—all combine to the perfection of far easier
riding under all driving conditions.

Greater power, greater speed

In mechanical improvements the new Superior Whippet advances even over its famous predecessor. The new higher compression engine gives more than 20% added horsepower, resulting in increased speed, faster pick-up and greater hill-climbing ability. A completely redesigned steering gear makes the new Superior Whippet instantly responsive to the lightest touch.

Through these further advances in scientific engineering, dependable performance and minimum operating costs are assured.

Judge Prescribes Birth Control

Nation-wide comment has been aroused by the ruling of Judge Harrison W. Ewing of Cleveland, directing Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kourim of that city to practice birth control for three years. Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver acknowledged that a precedent will be held early in January and it was being set by the order recognizing the legality of birth control, but he disagreed with Judge Ewing, holding that no court has the right to impose birth control on a couple. The Kourims, parents of three children, had come before Judge Ewing seeking a divorce. Kourim and the children, left to right, Bertha, 4; Otto, 1; and Edward, 2, are pictured above.

"Safest Flyer" Gets Schiff Trophy

While airplane crashes make newspaper headlines and individual feats of daring win renown for many an aviator, consistently safe, uneventful flying does not go unrewarded. Here's Lieutenant James E. Dyer, right, of the navy air station at San Diego, receiving from President Coolidge the Herbert Schiff trophy for safety. He flew 1251 hours in the last fiscal year without accident of any kind. Left is Herbert Schiff, of New York, donor of the award.

"It Won't be Long Now!"

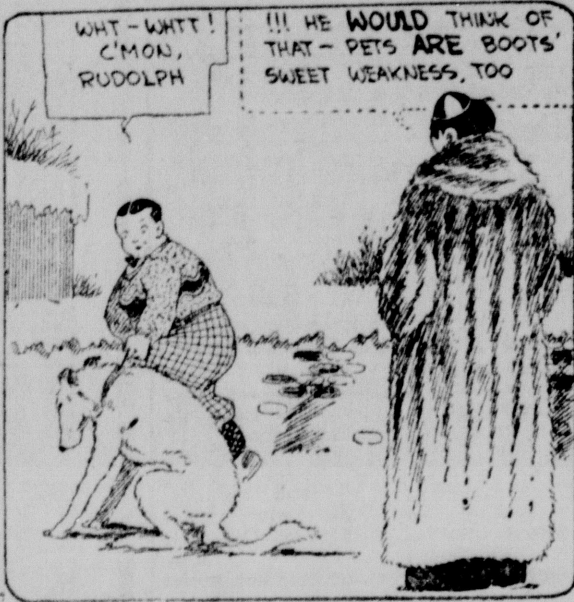

"IT WON'T BE LONG NOW!" said one flyer to another as they arrived at the last stop between the civilized world and the vast antarctic continent over which they'll fly with Commander Richard E. Byrd. Standing here on dock at Wellington, New Zealand are Bernt Balchen, left, famed aviator and chief pilot of the party, and Ralph D. Schropshire, scientist, of the U. S. army air service.

On Trial for Husband's Death

No, testified pretty Mrs. Frances Kirkwood, left, she did not kill Dr. Glenn Kirkwood in a blind rage against his alleged infidelities. They had quarreled, she said, and when the attempted suicide he struggled with her and was killed accidentally. Mrs. Kirkwood is pictured here with a police man at the Fulton House, Long Island.

Fraternity Members Evicted from Show

Boston, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Two hundred delegates to the national convention of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and their women friends, who included a number of socially prominent members of the Junior League and Vincent Club, started out last night to see a theatrical performance at the Copley Theater but ended not long afterward, with a dance at the University club.

But whether they quit the theater in indignation at the attitude of Manager E. E. Clive, or were given the "bum's rush" was a matter over which there was wide variance of opinion today.

The curtain was run down twice before the first act was over. The first time Clive objected to the comments from the floor of the house.

The second time he said he would not

THIS HAS HAPPENED ASHORETH ASHE, adventurous stevedore, becomes involved in a dramatic affair on shipboard. Ashoreth is taking a cruise to the West Indies and has encountered two particularly interesting people.

MONA DE MISTRE, with whom she rooms, is a mysterious lady of exceptional beauty, who possesses rare charm and priceless pearls.

JACK SMYTHE, an English man, warns Ashoreth against Mona, and declares that the girl is notorious. Ashoreth is naturally shocked, but Mona has been so kind to her that she declines to sever their brief friendship.

In a few days Mona will have left the ship at the island of Guadeloupe, a French possession in the Indies. Ashoreth resolves to treat her as usual.

Smythe, who has already kissed Ashoreth once, persuades her to go on the lonely boat deck with him. And there he makes love in a fashion utterly new and thrilling for Ashoreth.

Suddenly, from the shadows, a woman approaches them. It is Mona, who turns on Jack in a controllable fury.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XX

"Now, Mona,"

Jack Smythe spoke soothingly, as one humoring a recalcitrant child. He even touched her shoulder.

"Don't you Mona me!" she cried. And drew away as though his touch had burned her. "You—you—"

"No accident," he commanded curtly. "And you'd better get out of this, you know. It's none of your business, Mona."

Her dark skin was livid with fury. And her nostrils quivered with the excitement of her unleashed emotions.

"Easy now," he cautioned.

"Easy!" she hissed.

There was something dreadfully primitive about her sibilant fury. Smythe turned to Ashoreth.

"The woman seems determined to make an exhibition of herself," he said. "Perhaps, Miss Ashe, you had better go below."

But Mona had snatched Ashoreth's wrist.

"No!" she ordered. "She'll stay here."

The Englishman had grown very pale in the moonlight. Philosphera say that the superior man can find himself in no situation in which he is not master of himself. But there is no superiority born of man to rule the fury of an angry woman.

And no one, assuredly, had ever mastered Mona in a rage. Smythe's pulse seemed to increase her agitation.

Now she wheeled on Ashoreth like a virago.

"I told you," she cried, "that he was a bad man. He made love to me, like to you. And then he put it in a book—and sell it. People buy his book to read why I go wrong. And he make money."

"I don't care," she cried, "that he choked her, and she stopped for breath. She put her handkerchief against her mouth, and when she took it away, Ashoreth saw that there was blood on it."

"Mona!" she cried.

But the other girl shrugged impatiently.

"It is nothing," she said.

Ashoreth shuddered.

"Please," she begged, "don't be so excited. You've made yourself ill. It's awfully dangerous, Mona—blood in your mouth, like that. It might be from your lungs you know. A hemorrhage."

MONA moved indifferently to the rail and put her arm about Ashoreth.

"All right, ma chérie," she whispered. Her voice had grown weak, with exhaustion or fright. "A short life and merry one, mon petit chou."

Smythe cleared his throat.

"You ought to see the doctor."

allow the play to go on until those in the first three rows had left the building. Whereupon all connected with the fraternity donned their wraps and left.

James Anderson Haws, national secretary of the fraternity, and others were indignant at the treatment accorded them.

"I have attended nineteen of our conventions and have never seen a more quiet audience," Haws said. "I was there all the time and I did not hear a thing that was out of the way or out of the ordinary in any sense of the word."

Truck Load of Coal Burned in Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The odddest things happen in a city. Take C. Rasmussen's load of coal. It caught fire yesterday.

"Maybe Meester Smythe can write a story about a bad woman and a good little girl. . . . And a man who made love to them both."

Mona, he declared. "If you will go to your cabin, I will ask him to attend you immediately. It's suicidal, you know—taxing your strength this way. My God, you ought to get yourself under control!"

Mona laughed mirthlessly.

"Swine!" she retorted.

Smythe looked at her coolly, and turned to Ashoreth.

"Mademoiselle," he observed, "seems to imply that—"

But Mona cut in hotly upon his imperturbable humor.

"Guff!" she shrieked.

"Please, Ashoreth," he besought, "take her down with you. She's simply killing herself."

Mona swallowed with difficulty, pressing her fingers against her lips. Her color had faded, and her skin had taken on the tinge of old parchment.

"You know me frenzy of my blood," she told him calmly. "You—so smug! So self-sufficed!"

"Please, Mona—dear."

Ashoreth pleaded brokenly, dangerously near tears. The scene had completely upset her, and she felt overwhelmingly sorry for the girl.

"Please," she coaxed, "come down to our room. I'm so worried about you. Please come, Mona."

Carol Singers

One of the most thoughtful things occurred Monday night when a chorus of Carol singers led by Misses Ruth Phillips and Winifred Hausen made a tour of the town singing for the "Shut-ins." It was a most beautiful clear moonlight night and their sweet voices carried far into the town. We add our sincere appreciation to the happy Carol singers for we know it brought cheer to many hearts. Thank you, girls, come again.

Beautiful Exercises

The Christmas exercises held in the churches Sunday night are spoken of by one and all as the very best that have ever been put on in Franklin.

Pageants are always very lovely, and draw forth much praise for the actors as well as those having the affairs in charge. At the Methodist church over sixty people were in costume and with these added the choir and orchestra over one hundred folks took part in the pageant which was in itself a most beautiful sight. It would be very hard indeed to say which one did the best as they were all at their best, still we do take the privilege of personally referring to Miss Annie Moore who had one of the leading parts and had committed very much to memory which part she handled very beautifully.

A vote of thanks should be given to Misses Dorothy Durkes and Winifred Hausen for their untiring help in the pageant and also to Misses Melba Phillips and Elizabeth Durkes having charge of the costumes which were very beautiful.

We take this way to express to all of our friends our hearty appreciation for the many beautiful and useful gifts that were received during the past week. Regional Utilities Commissions Planned

Chicago. —(AP)— Expansion of public utilities in the last twenty years, demands a new type of regulation, especially "for the twilight zones between state and federal jurisdictions," Prof. C. O. Ruggles of Harvard University, public utility expert, told the American Economic association here.

He prescribed "federal regional commissions" for the purpose. Such commissions, he declared, would probably stimulate the states to improve the efficiency of their commissions. State commissions should be strengthened and jurisdiction extended to regulate all utilities other than railroad. The regional commissions would pass on questions beyond state jurisdiction and a general federal public utilities commission could be appealed to from decisions of the federal regional commissions.

To objections that such new commissions would simply mean more red tape, Professor Ruggles urged the following argument, "It is not easy to understand how utilities which have expanded their kilo-watt capacity in a 20-year period by 1100 per cent. output by 1500 per cent and increased their own employees by 400 per cent, can be regulated by the same number of type of agencies which were in existence when the industry was much less complex than it is at the present time. Moreover, these utilities appear to be pursuing a somewhat different course from that followed by the railroads in attempting to secure large numbers of highly trained men. If brains are needed and needed in greatly increased numbers within the industry itself, it would appear that an increase both in the number and in the quality of the commissions would also be a normal development."

Are You a Wise Man?

A wise man does not live as though his income couldn't stop—he makes provision for sickness, lack of work, accidents or his declining years. Are you wise?

The improvidence of a large number of people is not due so much to a desire to spend every cent they earn, as to their failure to understand the value of small economies. Make a start.
